

PAW PAW YOUTH MET HORRIBLE DEATH FRIDAY

CONTINUATION OF QUAKES IS CAUSE OF FEAR

Official Count Places 2,142 Dead In Wednesday's Disaster

Rome, July 26—(AP)—An official report of casualties obtained up to 8 o'clock last night was issued this morning, placing the dead from Wednesday's earthquake at 2,142 and the injured at 4,551.

KING VISITED SCENE

Melfi, Italy, July 26—(AP)—King Victor Emmanuel arose early today to comfort the earthquake sufferers in his second day of inspection in the region devastated Wednesday.

The royal train pulled into the nearly-ruined station outside this city at 6 A. M. and the King was vigorously applauded by a large crowd. He left for Melfi proper in an automobile, accompanied by M. Leoni, Under-Secretary for Public Works.

At Melfi the King saw scenes of destruction reminding him of war days. Accompanied by Minister of Public Works Crotta, and Prefect Orsola of Potenza Province, the monarch went through the wrecked town.

He visited the large tent city for refugees on the outskirts, comforting those who had lost relatives in the great disaster.

Relief workers showed the King a 15 year old girl who had just been rescued after having been pinned under a mass of wood and stone of her wrecked home since Wednesday. Her legs were badly crushed but it was believed she would live.

Physicians were working frantically to save ten others who had just been extricated from ruins. They were in a grave condition but faint hearts beats gave hope that they might be revived by oxygen.

FEAR FURTHER QUAKES

Naples, July 26—(AP)—The Italian people, still dazed by Wednesday's severe earthquake, are alarmed by the continuance of earth shocks and fear more may follow.

In the last two days there have been eight new quakes, although they did no severe damage in comparison with the mid-week tremors which caused at least 2,142 deaths and 4,551 injured according to the official estimate.

Five new shocks were felt yesterday in the same southern region stricken Wednesday.

Melfi, already torn, felt the shocks especially. There many buildings weakened by the previous tremors collapsed, among them the Paccioli Palace.

A shock felt at Ariano Thursday caused the death of an elderly woman, killed in the collapse of the registry office.

Meanwhile, the government continued to add up the long roll of known dead, while an official statement depreciated the reports that nearly 3,000 had been killed. It was admitted the figures might be larger.

Many Records Missing

The government's communique, issued through the Stefani News agency, followed a report from General Baistrocchi of the Neapolitan zone that the dead in Avellino province alone totaled 2,575.

No person is listed officially as dead until the body actually is taken from the ruins. Hence the work is slow.

The quake was no respecter of persons, mayors and their staffs being killed so that there was no one to gather the figures. In a number of townships the records were destroyed, making an accurate roll call impossible, while many survivors fled to the mountains and have not been heard of since Wednesday.

Neapolitans today awaited a visit from King Victor Emmanuel, who yesterday made a motor tour of the stricken areas. It is believed he will arrive tonight.

The King arrived at Rocchetta-Sant' Antonio in mid-afternoon and immediately set out to comfort his grief-stricken subjects.

Survivors, while delighted to see their sovereign, still were suffering today. In many places there is a scarcity of water because of the breaking of mains or the filling of wells.

Most of the communities are fed on army rations. Naples military and naval officers have distributed 80,000 bread rations, 15,000 tins of meat and 11,800 rations of hard tack so far.

Some Oddities In Wire News Today From Various Parts

BET ON SNAKE-FIGHT

Atlanta, Ga., July 26—(UP)—Atlanta turned its attention today to a match between a rattler and king snake—the winner to meet a Spanish mongoose. Although the king snake is favored in the betting, he is accorded little chance of defeating the mongoose.

RUDE AWAKENING

Waupaca, Wis., July 26—(UP)—Mrs. A. D. Lamb was awakened suddenly and violently at 3:30 A. M. today and found herself in bed with an old rocking chair.

At the same instant, her husband awoke a bit more suddenly and found himself deposited in a clothes closet, six feet from the bed, in the exact spot where the rocking chair had been when he and Mrs. Lamb retired last night.

A bolt of lightning which struck the Lamb home during a severe wind, rain and electrical storm, had ripped into the upstairs bedroom with such force that it reversed the positions of Lamb and the old chair. Both Mr. and Mrs. Lamb were badly bruised and shaken by the bolt. Three children sleeping in another bedroom were unhurt.

POLICE HUNT GHOSTS

Chicago, July 26—(AP)—In the house at 2140 Carver Street, a ghost walks.

Many people say so. They have called upon the police to stop it. The problem is intricate, for policemen are not skilled particularly in ghost hunting. Nevertheless, they are doing what they can.

Strange noises emanate from the house. Reports of the weird goings-on have brought large crowds to the vicinity, and extra traffic officers have been necessary to handle the throngs.

Some people swear that they have seen phantom bottles float through the atmosphere and disappear into the house, presumably refreshments to the ghosts. One policeman even reported seeing the bottles, whereupon Lieut. O'Connell and Tomchek decided to send a ghost-proof squad to the neighborhood, to see what's the matter. They have orders to seize any ghosts or anybody who thinks he's a ghost.

VOTED FOR PURGATORY

Springfield, Ill., July 26—(UP)—Instead of at Springfield, the Capital of Illinois might have been located in purgatory had 62 other legislators followed the lead of State Senator Henry I. Mills of Edwards county in the 1837 session when the question of moving the Capital from Vandalia was considered.

In order to obtain a majority vote for Springfield it was necessary to have four roll calls. On the third roll call, Mills, evidently annoyed or amused at the bickering, cast his location vote for purgatory.

The vote for purgatory was discovered by Lewis Vogel, Chief Clerk of the index department in the Secretary of State's office, while looking through the House Journal for 1836 and 1837 in response to an inquiry about the effort to have the state government located at Illinois.

Illinois was considered at the time, but received only ten votes.

Frank Peacock Is Dead In California

Mrs. Frank Brookner has received the sad news of the death of Frank Peacock, her brother, which took place at Sierra Madre, Cal., on Tuesday. For years the Peacock family lived in Dixon and Mr. Peacock grew to boyhood here. He was an honest, kindly man, who made friends everywhere he went. He leaves many friends among the older residents who will mourn his passing. Beside Mrs. Frank Brookner in Dixon, his sister, and her son, Merton, here, the only other relative here now is Mrs. George Nettie. He leaves his wife and a daughter. Interment was made in California.

WIFE OF ENDURANCE FLIER INJURED ON WAY TO SEND BREAKFAST UP TO AVIATORS FLYING OVER ST. LOUIS

St. Louis, July 26—(AP)—Mrs. Dale Jackson, wife of one of the pilots of the endurance plane "Great-Er St. Louis," now in its sixth day above Lambert-St. Louis field, was injured this morning in an automobile accident while on her way to the field to aid in sending breakfast up to her husband and his companion, Forest O'Brien.

At St. Luke's hospital, where she was taken, it was said her condition was not serious and that she might leave the hospital today. She received cuts on her forehead and a knee when her car struck a telephone pole as she swerved to avoid a collision. Mrs. O'Brien, who was driving behind Mrs. Jackson, took break-

AGREEMENT OVER MIXED BABES IS CALLED OFF NOW

Further Controversy Now Is Expected: Lawyers are Consulted

Chicago, July 26—(AP)—The tiny bundle of boy at the William Watkins home has become, for the time being, the baby nobody wants.

The William Watkins don't want him; neither do the Charles Bambergers. All the parents want the boy the Bambergers now have.

The baby nobody wants was born in the Englewood Hospital 36 days ago, either the son of the Watkins or the Bambergers. He and the other baby boy left the hospital the same day—the former to the Watkins home, the other to the home of the Bambergers. Everyone was happy.

Then father Watkins found a tab marked "Bamberger" on the back of the baby and his wife had; a tab marked "Watkins" was found on the back of the baby at the Bamberger home. Confusion, anxiety and heart-twists followed. The Watkins wanted the baby at the Bamberger home; the Bambergers wanted him too and they kept him.

Thursday seven scientists and medical men, summoned by Dr. Arnold H. Kegel, Health Commissioner, agreed with one exception that the babies should be switched—the one at the Watkins home going to the Bambergers, and vice versa. But the Bambergers refused to abide by the decision and temporarily disappeared. Then the parents met and reached a decision to keep the babies they had from the first.

The Watkins repudiated this announcement today.

"I allowed myself to be talked into being satisfied that the baby I have is mine," said Mr. Watkins. "But today I don't know. I have hired a lawyer and I guess I'll get out a writ or something."

Mr. Bamberger was more hostile.

"Listen," he said, "the baby we've got now is going to stay right in this house. I've got a lawyer, too, and I know my own rights—and I know my own son. See?"

Sought Cure For Deafness: Killed

Hollywood, Calif., July 26—(UP)—An airplane flight intended to cure the deafness of a 50-year old man brought death to the pilot and his passenger here when the plane lost a wing in midair and plunged 2,000 feet to death.

The dead were John Spencer, 27, pilot, of Altadena, and his passenger, Dominic Gnoepff, prominent Los Angeles nurseryman. Both were killed instantly in the crash near a golf links late yesterday.

The monoplane had been in the air only a few minutes when a wing suddenly crumpled. The plane dove into a swamp adjoining a lake and buried its motor deep in the mud. Pieces of the wing fell on the links and narrowly missed a number of golfers.

Friends of Gnoepff said he had hoped the flight would cure his deafness.

Engineers Making Survey Of Route 71

The proposed state highway, route 71, connecting Aurora with route 70 or the Meridian highway, will not pass through Paw Paw. It has been announced, but will extend east and west about five miles north of that place. West from Aurora the right of way for the proposed new highway will pass through Sugar Grove, Big Rock, Hinckley, Waterman and Silboona then entering Lee county.

Strong efforts have been made to route the new highway through Paw Paw to connect with route 70, but according to a statement given out from the office of County Superintendent of Highways Fred Leake today, the new route will pass through the center of Willow Creek and Viola townships, about five miles north of Paw Paw and connect with the Meridian highway at Henry's or the Speedway corners.

Tricked Into Making Buckley Accusation

Detroit, July 26—(AP)—The Detroit News says that Frank Chock, whom it identifies as a bootlegger, in an affidavit today accused police Commissioner Thomas C. Wilcox of tricking him into signing an affidavit accusing Jerry Buckley, slain radio announcer, of an attempted shake-down.

The News says that Chock's new affidavit sets forth that he was unable to read English, was unaware of the contents of the statement he signed, and affixed his signature only because he feared he might be sent to jail.

Baby Killed By Auto.

Marion, Ill., July 26—(UP)—The 18-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Northcutt was instantly killed today when he fell under the front wheels of the Northcutt automobile, as his mother was backing the car out of a garage.

DIXON'S CENTENNIAL

September 22, 23 and 24 of this year will be the most momentous in Dixon's present day history, for on these days this city will celebrate a century of progress and the 100th anniversary of the founding of the town.

Speakers of national renown, the dedication of our new Lincoln monument, our new bridge over Rock River and Dixon Airport, pageants, amusements, historical exhibitions, air circuses and many events of great interest and entertainment will be included in the celebration. A great Dixon Home-coming for former residents is planned.

Committees are starting to work in earnest on the project and the loyal co-operation of every citizen is necessary to make the event the success that it deserves to be. Dixon will be advertised over the breadth of the land and the celebration will be in keeping with its importance.

The dedication of the Lincoln memorial will attract nation-wide attention and will emphasize interesting details in the life of the great American as a young man that are rather unfamiliar to the public. It was during the days of the Blackhawk War, in 1832 that Lincoln came to Dixon and fought under his country's flag as a Captain, when the army headquarters for that campaign were in a block fort at Dixon, under command of Col. Zacharia Taylor, afterwards President of the United States, and a member of his staff was Jefferson Davis, later President of the southern Confederacy. Other men in Taylor's command who were to become famous in later years were Gen. Winfield Scott, Albert Sidney Johnson, William S. Hamilton, son of Daniel Boone and Major Robert Anderson, who was in command at Fort Sumpter when the Civil War started.

Loyal support, financially and otherwise, will be necessary to make the celebration a success. The Telegraph believes that Dixon citizens will give that support, generously.

LINDBERGH HAS DEFINITE IDEA ON NEWSPAPERS

Desires to Be Friendly With Reporters Who Have Real Goal

New York, July 26—(AP)—The current issue of Editor and Publisher carries an interview by Marlen Pew with Charles A. Lindbergh in which the Colonel explains his attitude toward newspapers.

"He draws the line strictly," Pew writes, "between the right of the press to report his activities as they relate to the science of air travel and that he calls personal curiosity. He said he appreciated the remarkable liberality of the press in support of his work."

Colonel Lindbergh mentioned to Pew five New York newspapers with which he and Mrs. Lindbergh had decided they could not cooperate and maintain their self-respect.

He said in the future he intended to do all he could to keep aloof from newspapers that "have no serious purpose." He felt outraged when some reporters followed him on his honeymoon and "for eight hours circled about our boat at anchor in a New England harbor in a noisy motorboat." He considered it absurd that he should have been forced to keep a guard at the gate of his wife's home and told of a reporter attempting to bribe a servant with $2,000 to "betray family secrets."

"Colonel Lindbergh," Pew writes, "desires to be on friendly terms with newspapermen who have a serious purpose. He likes to give his confidence to such men and said that his confidence had not been betrayed by them."

To Start Dredging Of River Next Week

The big suction dredge of the A. L. Wilson Construction Company will start up the river from Illinois Northern Utilities Company steam plant the first of the week, to begin the work of dredging a new channel in Rock River from Ottawa to College avenue, it was announced today.

Because of the low stage of water at present it will be necessary to dredge a channel for the steel barge as it works its way up stream. The small barge which carries the power plant for the dredge was towed up stream this morning and stationed west of the new Peoria avenue bridge. The big dredge will start upstream the first of the week and it is expected that the work of pumping sand and gravel from the bed of the river at a point below the hydro plant dam will be started not later than Wednesday.

Albertus Tice Of Polo Died At Noon

Polio, July 26—Albertus Tice, aged 63, passed away at his home in this city shortly before noon today. He suffered a stroke of paralysis one week ago Wednesday. He is survived by his widow and one daughter, Mrs. Blanche Ackerson of Polo. The funeral arrangements and complete obituary will be announced later.

Two Chicago Drivers Pay Fines In Dixon

H. S. Howland, Chicago automobile salesman, disregarded the siren on Sheriff Ward Miller's car and passed up State Highway Officer Hal Roberts at the Crawford Maples corner last evening when the latter attempted to halt the 40-mile-an-hour gale the salesman was making, but Chief of Police Ambrose Hodges of Rochelle put a stop to it as Howland drove into that city. He was taken to the police station and later turned over to the Dixon state officer who returned him to this city where he faced Justice Martin J. Gannon at the county jail. Howland was assessed a fine of $10 and the costs on a charge of reckless driving. He claimed not to have heard the siren or to have seen the officer's flashlight.

H. C. Replogle, another Chicagoan, mistook Officer Hal Roberts for a mischievous country lad who was testing the speed of his new Ford last evening and started racing on the Lincoln Highway east of Dixon. The speed had gone better than 60 miles an hour when Replogle discovered his mistake and stopped as commanded, but not until after he had been trailed for two miles. He was brought back to Dixon and before Justice Martin Gannon paid a fine of $10 and costs for reckless driving.

The state of New York planted 25,000 trees during 1929.

WHEN YOU'RE ASKED "WHEW, AIN'T IT HOT" YOU MUST REPLY CHEERFULLY "IT AIN'T THE HEAT, IT'S HUMIDITY"

Chicago, July 26—(AP)—The favorite salutation between acquaintances today was, "Whe! Aint it hot!" and they were absolutely correct.

Some folks added brightly that it "isn't the heat, it's the humidity," but there was plenty of heat, too.

"It looks," said the weather forecaster, "like this territory is in for another dose of the same kind of weather it had last week. Maybe it will let up tomorrow night—but remember, I said maybe."

The red line in the thermometer got up to 96 before yesterday's sun decided to call it a day, and it was even hotter in the prairie lands of Kansas and other middle western states. Pittsburgh, Kansas had a high of 103, which was top for that section. Huron, S. D., far to the north, had 100 degrees.

Thunderstorms, quickly over, sent the temperature down ten degrees last night in Chicago, but it was right back up where it started before midnight.

Four deaths attributed to the heat occurred in Chicago and three in Milwaukee.

ONE OF DIXON'S OLDEST FARMERS DIED YESTERDAY

John Hetler, 83 Years Old, Passed Away At His Home East Of City

John Hetler, one of the oldest pioneers of Dixon township, passed away at his home east of the city on the River road yesterday afternoon, at 3:30. He had been in failing health for several weeks and passed peacefully to rest at his home where he has resided for more than four score years, at the age of 83 years and eight months.

Mr. Hetler is the last of seven children and was born on the present site of the Luther Burkett farm east of Dixon on the Lincoln Highway on November 25, 1846. In his early boyhood, his parents moved to the present farm on the River road where he had since resided. His parents, Nathan and Catherine Culp Hetler, natives of Pennsylvania, with three older children made the trip overland in a covered wagon, arriving in Lee county, June 13, 1837, where they secured a piece of raw prairie land on which a log cabin was built. The family began life in the west in true pioneer style enduring the hardships and trials of the early frontier. However, as the years passed and financial resources were increased, Mr. Hetler expanded the boundary lines of his farm until it included 400 acres. He died in the Hetler homestead on the River road May 27, 1877.

Lost His Sight

John Hetler obtained his early education in the district schools of the neighborhood and during his boyhood and youth worked on his father's farm. When it became time for him to engage in business he followed the occupation in which he was reared and was recognized as one of the most successful farmers not only in Dixon township but in Lee county. Mr. Hetler was a staunch supporter of Republican principals and remained well informed in the issues of the day. He was stricken with blindness several years ago. Throughout the long years he witnessed the growth and development of his native county, he maintained a just pride in its progress and had ever borne his part in the promotion of those enterprises calculated to advance the general welfare.

He leaves to mourn his passing, his widow, two daughters and two sons as follows: Mr. Emanuel May at home, John and Harry and Mrs. Nellie Heckman, of Polo. Thirteen grandchildren and one great grandchild also survive him. Funeral services will be conducted at St. Paul's Lutheran church Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Lloyd W. Walter officiating and interment will be in Oakwood.

Terse Items of News Gathered in Dixon During Day

NELSONITE FINED

Arthur Kennedy of Nelson was arrested last evening by Officer Brantner and taken before Justice J. O. Shaulls in police court where he was assessed a fine of $3 and costs for muffler violation.

SWIMMERS SANS SUITS

Five boys who sought relief from the heat wave, neglected bathing suits when they stripped and were swimming in Rock river just west of the north approach to the new Peoria avenue bridge last evening. The police were notified and dispersed the bathers until they secured proper raiment.

LUTHERANS TO RALLY

Members of the Lutheran churches in this section of the state will hold a rally at Assembly Park tomorrow attending taking picnic suppers with them so they can attend both afternoon and evening meetings.

BIRTHDAY IN TREE

Jack VanMeter, young tree-sitter, will spend his fourteenth birthday Monday in his tree at 1411 1/2 street, he stated today; adding that he expects to break the world's record providing sickness doesn't force him down. He went "aloft" Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

HAD SERIOUS OPERATION

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dysart have returned home from Rochester, Minnesota, where they were called Tuesday to the bedside of William W. Wooley who had entered the Mayo clinic last week. Word this morning stated that Mr. Wooley submitted to a serious operation yesterday and was reported to have been convalescing nicely. Mrs. Wooley and Mr. and Mrs. John Herbst remained with him.

PAW PAW HOMECOMING

At a meeting of the Paw Paw Community Club held Tuesday evening, it was voted to celebrate the annual homecoming event on Labor Day this year. There was some opposition to the holiday date and it was necessary to cast two ballots which resulted in the selection of September 6, Labor Day. Supervisor Henry Knetsch of Wyoming township, president of the club, will appoint special committees to arrange for the celebration.

TO R. I. MEETING

President Robert Sterling of the Dixon Chamber of Commerce at noon today received a telegram from the Rock Island Association of Commerce announcing an important meeting to be held in that city Monday, to which a delegation from the Dixon Chamber was invited. Major General Lytle Brown, Chief of Engineers of the United States Army, will be the guest speaker at a luncheon at the Fort Armstrong hotel at noon Monday, and will talk upon the subject of deep waterways. Rock river is included in the proposed improvement and plans are being made this afternoon to send a delegation from Dixon to the meeting.

Walton Youths In Motorcycle Mishap

Freeport, July 26—Two young men from Walton, Illinois, riding on a motorcycle were injured about 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon when the motorcycle on which they were riding skidded on the highway as the driver attempted to turn out and back an automobile. The accident occurred several miles east of Freeport on Route 5.

The driver of the machine, Wesley Walters, about 23 years of age, received several deep cuts on the forehead and chin, and lacerations on the right arm. Leroy Smith, about 24, who was riding on the rear seat, suffered painful cuts and lacerations on the right hand when the motorcycle skidded on the pavement.

The young men were brought to a physician's office by motorists who appeared on the scene shortly after the accident.

ROBT. BOYLE DECAPITATED IN ROCHELLE

Fell Beneath Train In Burlington Railroad Yards There

The lure of romance and adventure beckoned Robert G. Boyle, 16 year old Paw Paw lad, to a terrible death last night. With a boy companion he was "beating his way" west on the railroads when he fell under a train in the Burlington yards at Rochelle shortly after midnight and was decapitated.

Robert, who from early youth was a rover, and who had on several previous occasions left his home without notice to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Boyle, of Paw Paw (Mr. Boyle is a well known implement and machinery dealer there) started out last evening with another Paw Paw boy, Wilbur Clemons. They caught a freight train to Shabbona and another to Rochelle, where they planned to steal a ride west. The Boyle boy had once made such a trip to the coast.

In the Rochelle yards they waited for a west bound freight and when it came, through they started to board it.

It is not known whether Robert bumped into the handle of a switch or whether he stumbled over a rail, but his companion, the Clemons boy, saw his body rolling under the train and ran back to the depot to report that his pal was hurt.

When men he summoned reached the scene of the accident they found that the boy's head had been severed from his body and lay 35 feet from it. His right leg had been cut off below the knee and the left leg crushed.

Coroner J. C. Akens of Forreston planned to hold an inquest at 1:30 this afternoon at the Unger Undertaking rooms.

Robert's mother was in Rockford on a brief visit and was notified there of the tragedy and had overtaken her son. Besides the parents, three sisters and a brother survive to mourn his death.

Polo Contractor Is Sentenced To Jail

Charles Gunder, Polo contractor, who was arrested Thursday evening by State Motorcycle Officer K. L. Church, was assessed a fine of $200 and costs and sentenced to serve a 30-day sentence in the Ogle county jail, when he entered a plea of guilty to a charge of operating a motor vehicle while in an intoxicated condition before Judge Leon Zick in the county court at Oregon yesterday. The court ordered that the jail sentence should start August 11, permitting Gunder to complete work on the construction of culverts in Ogle county.

State Officers Church, Hal Roberts and Frank Tyne have conducted a check-up of reported violations of the motor laws this week which have netted many violators in Polo and vicinity. Several have been taken before Justice B. M. Brandt at Polo where they have paid fines. The officers will continue similar check-up campaigns in many of the smaller towns and villages in this locality.

New Bridge To Be Opened August 7th.

The new Peoria avenue bridge is to be thrown open to traffic as soon as the 21-day period allowed for the curing of the cement approaches is concluded, it was announced today. Inspector Charles Russell who has been in charge of the pouring of the concrete, stated that August 7 is the date on which traffic will be permitted to use the new structure.

Contractor Dave Heagy will complete the pouring of concrete on River street within a few days and Foreman Michael Julian of the Northwestern maintenance crew will begin the installation of the crossings at the south approach to the bridge and the River street switch track crossings. It is understood

FREIGHT RATES ON GRAINE FOR EXPORT LOWERED

Action Of I. C. C. May Aid In Solution Of Agricultural Problem

BY NATHAN ROBERTSON

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Washington, July 26—(UP)—The Federal Farm Board's burden in its effort to solve the perplexing wheat problem had been lightened to some extent today by the Interstate Commerce Commission's order reducing freight rates on grain throughout western territory and to principal seaports.
The order reducing the freight rates does not become effective until October 1, so the farm belt may not be greatly benefited by it in present problem. However, a stimulation of export to dispose of the great wheat surplus which has pulled down the price to the lowest figure in years, is expected as a result of considerably lower rates of shipments to ports of export.
Under the orders handed down yesterday by the Interstate Commerce Commission, one rate will apply to wheat and all other grain and grain products. Heretofore, lower prices for grain such as corn, oats, rye and barley had been carried at a much lower rate than wheat. Members of the commission estimated the revenue of western railroads would be reduced by $15,000,000 a year as a result of the general rate reduction. Commissioner Eastman, concurring in part of the decision, said the changes probably would "help the farmer a little," but would not solve the agricultural problem.

Attack Board's Proposal
The order was the culmination of a national survey undertaken under the Hoch-Smith Congressional resolution ordering the Commission to apply the lowest rates to agricultural products affected by depression. The readjustment as to grain brings the rates as low as legal under the 1920 transportation act, the Commissioners said.
An attack on the Farm Board's approval of the packers' plea for modification of the consent decree was made by Senators McKellar, Dem., Tenn., and LaFollette, Repn., Wis.

McKellar charged Legge with the "grossest impropriety" for recommending modification while court action on the packers' plea is pending. LaFollette characterized Legge's action as "very strange procedure." Both predicted that if the decree is modified legislation will be sought at the next session of Congress to amend the packers and stockyards act.

LaFollette said modification of the decree would be tantamount to amending the packers and stockyards act without the approval of Congress. He added that this act was built around the consent decree. Mrs. Jerry Haise of South Dixon was here this morning and reports that her husband who has been very ill, is much improved.
Mrs. Orville Wood of Ashton was a Dixon business visitor today.
Mrs. Mayne Burke of Harmon was a Dixon shopper today.
A Dixie Mrs. Benjamin O. Hyde of Beloit, Wis., stopper here en route to Clinton, Ia., for a brief visit today.
Mrs. Jennie Drew of Milwaukee arrived in Dixon last evening for a visit with relatives and friends.
Mrs. John Henky of Detroit, Michigan, is a guest here at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Reese who have recently returned to Dixon from Madison, Wis., to make their home.

Mrs. L. J. Kendall and grandsons Roy and Marrell who have been in the country with their grandparents, spent Thursday afternoon in Sterling with the boys' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cloyd Kendall.
Miss Martha LeFevre rallied from another weak spell Thursday afternoon. The community heartily sympathize with the family through these long tedious hours and hope soon to hear better reports.

Sec. Of War Spent Night In St. Charles
St. Charles, Ill., July 26—(UP)—Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley, enroute by airplane, to the North Dakota American Legion convention at Bismarck, left St. Charles today for Fort Snelling, Minn. He landed here last night.
Hurley is accompanied by Seth Richardson, Assistant United States Attorney from Washington. Their plans after reaching Fort Snelling are indefinite. Hurley hoped to visit friends at Fort Snelling, but also considered a flight to Fargo, N. D. He will reach Bismarck not later than Monday.
While in the northwest, Hurley expects to fly to Devil's Lake, N. D., to inspect the government flood control work. His trip, however, is primarily to appear before the North Dakota Legion.

June Unemployment Greatest Of Year

Chicago, July 26—(AP)—Declines in industrial employment in the seventh district during June were larger than in previous months of 1930, the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago's report on business conditions disclosed today.
Payroll amounts followed the same trend except in the leader products and public utilities groups. In these, the payroll increased 3 and 1 percent respectively in contrast to employment declines.
The report of the United States Department of Agriculture for July 1 shows a decline in demand and an increase in supply of farm labor since the April 1 report.
Although other states in the district showed a decline, the increase in bank deposits in Illinois and Iowa was responsible for a slight gain in the entire district.

Fireman Fell From Engine To His Death

Beardstown, Ill., July 26—(AP)—When he fell from the runway of an engine while attempting to adjust an automatic stoker, William Evans, 45-year-old fireman for the C. B. & Q. was killed near here this morning.
Evans' body was found at Sugar Creek, six miles south of here. A section gang started search for the body when the fireman was missed after the train arrived here.
The engineer, Harvey Stambaugh of Baders, said that Evans had left the cab to fix the stoker near Sugar Creek. He told authorities that he thought Evans was having trouble with the stoker and did not miss him during the short run into Beardstown.

Eleven Candidates For Tex. Governor

Dallas, Texas, July 26—(AP)—Eleven candidates for Governor, the longest list ever entered in the race in Texas, awaited the outcome today of the first Democratic primary election in the state.
Due to the size of the field, candidates predicted a majority vote would be impossible, and predicted a run-off primary August 23.
Candidates concentrated their fire in argument over a proposed $350,000,000 state highway bond issue, apparently ignoring, in the opinion of the observers, the bolt for Herbert Hoover, led by State Senator Thomas B. Love, two years ago. Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, wife of former Governor Ferguson, was also a candidate.

United States Senator Morris Sheppard, active campaigner for re-election although opposed by two candidates.
Republicans were passive in their campaign, making no public speeches.
Four gubernatorial candidates were in the field.
Ten of the 17 Democratic seats in the national House of Representatives were contested within the party today.

Shelton Must Keep Out Of E. St. Louis

East St. Louis, Ill., July 26—(AP)—Bernie Shelton, alleged gang leader and racketeer of Southern Illinois, was ordered to remain out of the city for six months when he pleaded guilty to a charge of "idling without visible means of support" before Justice of the Peace Thompson yesterday.
Shelton was arrested when police began a campaign to rid the city of persons they regard as undesirable. He was taken into custody in his hotel room where police found an automatic pistol and a sawed-off shotgun. He gave his occupation as a chauffeur. He recently had been active in organizing a taxicab company here.
Shelton is the youngest of three brothers who have figured in the annals of crime in the southern part of the state. Police are also looking for Shelton's brothers, Carl and Earl Shelton.

Screen Actor Fined

Hollywood, Calif., July 26—(UP)—Rex Lease, screen actor who blackened the eye of Vivian Duncan of the famous Duncan Sisters, walked quietly and unheralded late yesterday into the office of Justice of the Peace J. L. Webster of Malibu Beach, pleaded guilty to a battery charge, and paid a fine of $50.

Cities Seek Share Of Gasoline Taxes

Springfield, Ill., July 26—(UP)—The next session of the state legislature which will convene here in January, will be asked to amend the state's three cent gas tax in a manner that will enable the cities of the state to get a portion of the tax money.
Plans for staging an organized fight at the next legislative session were announced here today following a meeting of members of the Illinois Municipal League yesterday. Members of the organization indicated that they probably would engage counsel for the purpose of attacking the law in the court if the General Assembly failed to amend the gas tax measure.

The League sought to get the last session of the legislature to amend the law so that cities would receive one half of the tax allotted to counties, but the move failed, some of the members of the committee which was appointed to draft amendments to the law have expressed the opinion that the League should concentrate its effort for an amendment to the tax and abandon the usual procedure of recommending other pieces of legislation.

Small Loan Concerns May Lose Licenses

Springfield, Ill., July 26—(UP)—Failure of concerns licensed to do business under the state small loan act to answer questions and supply information on last year's business now being sought by Director Leo H. Lowe of the Department of Trade and Commerce can result in revocation of the license, according to an opinion given here today by Attorney General Oscar E. Carlstrom.

In holding that the questions should be answered, Carlstrom quoted a provision of the small loan act which reads:
"The Department of Trade and Commerce, for the purpose of discovering violations of this act, may at any time and as often as it desires, investigate the loans and business of every licensee, and for that purpose it shall have free access to the books, papers, records and vaults of such licensee; it shall also have authority to examine, under oath, all persons whose whose testimony it may require relative to such loans and business."

Cleveland Gangster "Put On Spot" Today

Cleveland, O., July 26—(UP)—James Porello, member of the powerful family which reputedly controls the bootleg corn sugar traffic here, was shot and probably fatally wounded today by gunmen who trapped him in a grocery store.
He was the second of the seven Porello brothers to be "put on the spot." "Big Joe" Porello, leader of the seven, was killed with one of his aides three weeks ago.
A third brother, John, who was with James today, escaped without injury.
The gunmen threw their sawed-off shotguns from the car as they fled.
A murderous war, reputedly between the Frank Milano underworld interests and those controlled by the Porello's has taken at least five lives in gangland within a month.

Reporter's Office Ransacked In Night

St. Louis, July 26—(UP)—The office of Harry T. Brundige, reporter for the St. Louis Star, was broken into during the night and papers and records ransacked, it was learned today. Brundige appeared before a Cook county grand jury at Chicago Tuesday for questioning in connection with charges he made in a series of articles that certain newspaper men of that city were engaged in racketeering practices.

When neighbors are showing strangers the town, do they just jerk a thumb disgustedly over the left shoulder at your house and say: "Oh, that's Smith's 'old place'; or do they say: "There is one of our characteristic homes, Mr. Jones owns it." You know it's up to you.

Hospital patient to nurse: "I'm in no hurry to recover, for I have fallen in love with you."
"Don't worry about getting well. The doctor is in love with me too."

Reuben Griffith, Joe Petersberger and Fred Swanland recently ordered their supply of next winter's good Eastern coal from our yard. They all saved a nice sum which may add to their bankroll or their vacation money.

You know those folks who claim that it's not the heat that hurts so much in summer, but the humidity? Same folks who put the alibi of the cold in the winter on the wind. Recognize them? Insulation would stop the whole foolishness. It is right here.

WHITE oleanders are in bloom. And I can smell their sweet perfume. I think how, by the Syrian streams. Their beauty at midsummer gleams. Under the snows of Hermon's crest, Rich gardens in profusion dressed; Gift of the old world to the new, Their blossoms drink the daylight dew.

White oleanders are in bloom. And far the misty mountains loom. And at their side, by waterfalls, A nightingale that plaintive calls; Break oleanders on the sight, Like billows of the moonbeams white, In courtyards old they bow and sway, At passing of the languid day.

Jean Elizabeth One Year Old Thursday

Little Miss Jean Elizabeth Plock entertained with a party Thursday, July 24th at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Flave Plock, on the River road in Palmyra, the occasion honoring her first birthday anniversary. Several little friends, accompanied by their mothers, were entertained, and also a number of relatives. Snap shots were taken of the little hostess and of different groups. The pose of the babies was unanimously declared to be a "howling" success.

Refreshments of coffee, sandwiches, ice cream and cake were served, several birthday cakes having been presented.

Later the gifts were displayed and admired, even by the little tots. The guests were: Mrs. John T. Lawrence, Mrs. C. W. Plock, Mrs. Charles Goldmacher, Mrs. Ed Plock, Mrs. Herbert Klosterman and daughter Ruth and son Donald, Mrs. Fred Miller, Mrs. Roy Plock, Mrs. Claybourne Siegel and son Harry, Mrs. Louis Plock, Mrs. Fred Hobbs, Mrs. Walter Hoyle, son Richard and daughter Donna, Mrs. A. Daughters Union Veterans Held Meeting

The Anna Kellogg Baker Tent No. 81, Daughters Union Veterans of the Civil War, held their regular meeting Thursday evening in G. A. R. Hall. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Maude Klime. The reports of the various committees were given. Chairman of the food sale committee for June gave a very gratifying report. The amount of relief work was valued at three dollars. One new member was initiated and given full membership in the Tent. The Union Soldiers, Sailors and Army nurses of the war of 1861-1865 will hold their reunion at Polo, Ill., August 14th. As many members of Tent 81, as can go please attend. Wednesday, July 23, Tent 81 held their annual picnic at the home of the president, Mrs. Maude M. Klime on Peoria Avenue. Members, comrades and guests to the number of sixty were seated at long tables on the lawn, which were laden with good things to eat. Guests included thirteen members from the Oregon Tent, eight comrades from Dixon Post and Mrs. Lizzie Spicher, of Somerset, Pennsylvania and Mrs. Sheppard, of Chicago. Several musical numbers were given by Jimmie Rice, accompanied by his mother, which was enjoyed by all.

Have You Heard?

You can utilize your summer leisure to good advantage by making little gifts as you sit and rock. For the college girl, nothing would be more appreciated than some little shoe-jackets for her party slippers. Using a slipper as a pattern, cut a pattern for individual bags that would slip over and fit snugly around party shoes. You can put snappers on the front ends to shut them when the slippers are in or you can have draw strings, the latter being easier to use.

Have your materials soft and pretty. And if you want the recipient to be doubly pleased, slip into each bag a fine little padded toe-tree, to keep her slippers in shape.

Sixtieth Wedding Anniversary Today

Today Mr. and Mrs. Daniel G. Miller, of Second street, are celebrating their sixtieth wedding anniversary, quietly at their home, with their children and grandchildren present. Mr. Miller was born in Somerset county, Pa., in April, 1848, while his wife nee Martha Porter, was born in the same state in Bedford county in 1852.

Mr. Miller came here in 1870 and was married the same year, the Rev. Abraham Brown performing the ceremony. The young bridegroom was then a farmhand, and later he had his own farm in Harmon township in this county. About 40 years ago he moved to Dixon, and for a long time was engaged in business here. He retired some years ago.

Of the Millers' four children, two are living—LeRoy and Quincy (L.), both married and making their home in Dixon.

Mr. Miller fought in the Civil War, serving for two years in the 54th Pennsylvania Infantry, and he recalls some of the biggest battles of the great conflict.

The Miller home is fragrant with flowers sent by admiring relatives and friends, and many are the messages of congratulation, and gifts which have found their way to the Miller home today. Mr. and Mrs. Miller are highly esteemed by scores of friends, all of whom join in extending to them best wishes for continued health and happiness.

Harmon W. M. S. Had A Pleasant Surprise

The W. F. M. Society met at the home of Mrs. William Kranon, July 17th. Meeting was opened by all repeating "Our Covenant," after which Mrs. Switzer read the devotion and Mrs. Kranon sang, "The Chosen Three." Mrs. Whitmore then announced that the next meeting was to be Mite Box opening day. Everyone should bring mite boxes at that time. The Standard Bearer Girls sang their Standard Bearer song, and then to our surprise Miss Violet Parker, president of the Standard Bearer presented the W. F. M. S. with $5.00 and also the Ladies' Aid society with $5.00. The girls completed all their requirements for the year and we are proud of our Standard Bearer Society.

The president, Mrs. Whitmore, then thanked the Standard Bearers in behalf of the W. F. M. Society for their gift to us. The Extension Work Through the Telescope was read by Emma Parker and Around the World with Our Extension Missionaries, was read by Mary Edson. The meeting closed by all repeating the Missionary Creed and Missionary Benediction, after which the hostess served dainty refreshments during the social hour.

Trousered Evening Dresses Featured at Paris Style Showing

Paris, July 26. —(UP)—Trousered evening dresses, as designed by Chantal, provided a sensation in the winter openings of the Haute Couturiere. The pajama-gowns, deriving their inspiration from beach costumes currently popular, offered trousers in striking colors cut full, squared at the bottom and attached to the waist by a false belt.

Of the whole the openings served only to establish the trends of the past year. The length of dresses, for instance, seemed to follow this pattern:

For Sport—To the calf.
For Street—Covering the calf.
For Formal Afternoon—To the ankle-top.
For Evening—Slipper-top to floor.

FLESH AND ORCHID WEDDING FAVORITES

Washington — (AP) — Flesh and orchid chiffon are much used this spring as costumes for wedding attendants.

At a recent wedding where apple blossoms, pink roses and ferns were the decorations the matron of honor was garbed in flesh-colored chiffon with hat and slippers to match. She carried pink roses.

The maid of honor was in pale orchid chiffon with hat and slippers of a deeper shade. She carried opella roses.

SUNDAY BREAKFASTS HELP KEEP FAMILIES TOGETHER

New York — (AP) — The family persists as an institution because it gives satisfaction to human beings. That is the conclusion of Porter R. Lee, director of the New York School of Social Work, who is conducting an analysis of family life based on 7,500 individual experiences.

Some of the most satisfying experiences center round family feasts such as Christmas and Thanksgiving. Picnics and Sunday morning breakfasts are other pleasant incidents mentioned.

There were few laws passed for their benefit, though New York amended its hour laws so that factories and mercantile establishments must allow a weekly half holiday if women employees work more than eight hours any day during the week. Any overtime in connection with the 48 hour, six day working week, is also forbidden.

Silver Wedding Celebrated And Farewell Party Last Evening

At the Christian church last evening a company of about one hundred friends gathered, on a double mission; to celebrate the silver wedding anniversary of the pastor and wife, Rev. and Mrs. B. H. Cleaver, and to honor the organist of the church, Mrs. Nathan Morrill, who with her husband, will leave soon for California to make their home.

Mrs. Morrill was told that the party was to be held for Rev. and Mrs. Cleaver and the Cleavers were informed that the party was to be held for Mrs. Morrill; and thus the clever ruse was completed.

When Rev. and Mrs. Cleaver appeared at the head of the stairs at the church, Mrs. J. E. Reagan met them and placed a bridal veil on her head and the little ring bearer, Arlene Ives, carefully carried the ring. James Leach performed the marriage ceremony. All joined in congratulating the astonished couple. Mrs.

Morrill presided at the organ. During the evening the quartet composed of Miss Ora Photo, Mrs. C. W. Emmert, Mrs. Elmer Rice and Mrs. Nathan Morrill sang a number of beautiful selections; Master Jimmie Rice, accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Elmer played several drum solos which were out of the ordinary for a drummer so very young. Master Jimmie is a star. A delightful event of the evening was the entertainment afforded by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hardy in the musical selections by Mr. Hardy who plays the accordion, the banjo and the harmonica, all at one time; and in the pleasing readings given by him; also by the clever readings given by his wife.

All joking aside, the many friends of Rev. and Mrs. Cleaver, as well as all of their parishioners, congratulate them on their attainment of twenty-five years of happy, useful wedded life. The company last evening presented to them twenty-five dollars on a silver bread tray, with the best wishes of all present, and Mrs. Will Stauffer presented them with a basket of beautiful flowers. Rev. and Mrs. Cleaver are popular with friends in all walks of life. Mr. Leach made the presentation. Then Mrs. Morrill, was presented with a beautiful purse and a lovely chiffon handkerchief as tokens of appreciation and esteem from all present, the presentation being made by Mrs. Sweeney. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were much enjoyed and the happy evening drew to a close, all wishing the Cleavers continued happiness and success and wishing Mr. and Mrs.

What Paris is Wearing

By K. D'ORSAY

Paris—Emeralds, worn with black clothes and black jewelry, is one of the smartest evening color combinations in Paris these days. Emeralds combined with onyx or with jet is fast becoming as popular a combination as the classic diamond-emerald alliance.

A favorite evening necklace, originally shown with Chanel clothes, makes use of three immense emeralds, cut in melon shape, as the nucleus for a rather heavy necklace made of a dozen or more chains of onyx beads. The emeralds that separate the emeralds are sometimes set with small diamonds. The style value in this new necklace lies not only in the black-and-emerald combination, but in the numerous ways of wearing as well. Moving the three green melons from front to the back of the throat, or pushing them around to the side, provides one of the new fashionable gestures.

The sketch shows three favorite ways of wearing this necklace. Sometimes the onyx chains are quite long, so that they may be adjusted in any number of ways. Right now the tendency is to wear the larger motifs of any necklace—melon beads, pendants or extra large clasps—at the sides, rather than at the center front or back.

PLAN FALL FESTIVAL
Oxford, Neb.—(UP)—Program arrangements are being made for the annual Oxford Fall Festival, to be held here August 27, 28, and 29, according to E. E. Duryea, committee chairman. A livestock show, farm products exhibit, baseball games, free barbecue and motion pictures are listed among the entertainment. Two bands will be employed for the festival.

Ninth Of Cutten Robbers Gives Up

Chicago, July 26.—(AP)—The last of the nine men sought for the robbery of the Arthur W. Cutten home eight years ago when Cutten and members of his family were locked in a vault and $20,000 worth of jewelry stolen, surrendered yesterday. The other eight have been punished.

Caspar Rosenberg, whose brother, Simon, already has been sent to prison, gave himself up to DuPage county authorities at Wheaton. "I've been hunted long enough," he told the State's Attorney. "I'm innocent and I'm prepared to prove it."

He was released under bond and trial set for September 8.

R. F. D. AND CAMELS.

Little or no relation is there between the camel as a means of transportation and the old horse and buggy of the Rural Free Delivery; yet they are both being relegated to the romantic past by the same instrument—the automobile which sails along in high over the desert and on the R. F. D. The country road, the old horse and buggy, the genial R. F. D. mail man who chats with his farmer friends along the route—these make up a colorful picture of a vanishing bit of American life. Down a hard surfaced road now speeds along the efficient and businesslike automobile. Motorization and consolidation of rural mail routes by the government is cutting down their number at the rate of twenty a week. On every route thus eliminated the department saves $1000 or more; the saving to date averages $2,735,000 a year. The old was romantic and colorful; the new saves money and time.

Far, far removed from this scene lies the great and terrible Sahara, one of the vast, inhospitable empty expanses of the world where only a few years ago only the bravest and most daring under proper guidance and supervision would go. The camel was the only means of transportation and it was so slow that the hazards of the desert had to be faced for months on just one trip.

That, too, is being rapidly relegated to the romantic past. France has opened a safe and practicable motorway with food, shelter and gasoline facilities at adequate intervals over the 1600 mile desert route between the Mediterranean and Niger. One now speeds over this course in a few days and with nothing to hit but the horizon.

That, too, is less colorful and romantic but it saves money, time and much inconvenience, if not suffering.

CONTROL OF AMERICA'S FUTURE.

"The man of the boulevard and the man of the furrow are fighting for control of the American future," recently said Dr. Glenn Frank, president of the University of Wisconsin. It is an unfortunate situation, if true; but there is considerable evidence to make its truth apparent.

Dr. Frank continued: "The trail of the antagonistic Americans can be followed in the national assemblies of our churches, where liberalism fights literalism, and in the national conventions of our political parties, where, by and large, city men stick with city men, and country men stick with country men, despite the powerful pressure for party regularity."

This is true in spite of the many forces at work to bring these two interests together. Our commercial organizations are bending their efforts toward rural and urban cooperation, and this is no perfunctory statement even though some months ago Alexander Legge did question the sincerity of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States on its agricultural stand.

America must work as a unit; these great economic factions must recognize not only the rights but the duties of each other; the control of America's future must not be in the hands of any one or group of interests; it must be representative of all; the man of the boulevard and the man of the furrow must find a common meeting ground.

Perhaps many will take Floyd Dell's advice and throw away books after they are read, but we venture to predict more will discard them after they're half read.

The round boat traveled down the stream and Scouty said, "It's like a dream. I've never seen a boat like this. It's comely as can be. You'd think that it would whirl around, but it goes right where we are bound. Let's stay out here for quite a while. There's a heap to see."

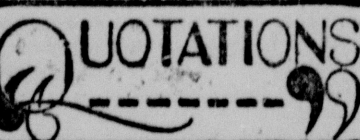

And, sure enough, old Bagdad was a scene to look upon because the buildings all were rather strange to all the Timmies. "The more we travel round about, the more I want to jump and shout," cried Scouty. "I have never seen such very pretty sights."

In 'bout an hour or so they went back to the shore and there they spent some time in watching little boys go swimming. My 'twas fun! The boys were good at diving grand and how they'd splash when they would land. To dive away out in the stream, one took a good long run.

Said Clowny, "I can do that, too. I'll prove it now to all of you." He found a place to rent a suit and soon was swimming 'round. "Now, do your long dive," Copy cried. And Clowny snapped, "It shall be tried." He took a long, long run and then leaped out with quite a bound.

The others heard a sudden crack! The water got a real hard smack 'cause little Clowny lit upon his tum, almost flat. He didn't try that stunt again, but swam around a while and then came out. Said Scouty, "Gee, I didn't think so much of that." They soon tired of the river, so the Travel Man said, "We will go back through the town. A Mosque is near." Wee Carpy said, "My, that's all right! It looks just like a castle and it's pretty as can be."

BERNARD SHAW'S ESTATE

On July 26, George Bernard Shaw, noted British critic, dramatist and Socialist, was born in Dublin, Ireland where he spent the first 20 years of his life.

His formal education over in his 15th year, Shaw got his first job as clerk in a land agent's office. He soon tired of this, however, and decided to go to London to devote himself to a literary career. His first venture into print occurred there when he wrote a letter to a newspaper criticizing a lecture given by two American evangelists. This was perhaps the earliest expression of the satire which he thereafter directed against certain social conventions, educational institutions and conventionalized ideals.

As hack-writer and writer of unsuccessful novels, Shaw lived for nine years in poverty. But his fortunes began to mend when he began to write criticisms on art, musical and dramatic subjects for London newspapers. As a critic he championed unpopular but finally victorious causes. As ardent socialist from youth Shaw also wrote important articles on Socialism for propaganda magazines.

Shaw's plays, ever satiric, are considered clever, witty and pregnant with ideas. One of them, "Candida," is said by critics to be the best comedy since Sheridan. Also among his best plays are "Arms and the Man" and "Man and Superman." In 1926 Shaw was awarded the Nobel prize for literature.

ASHTON NEWS

Ashton—Rev. E. A. Thomas, pastor of the Presbyterian church, has been granted a months' vacation and he, with his family, Mrs. Thomas, Dorcas, and Mrs. Hargreaves, of Pennsylvania, will motor to the Pacific coast.

Robert Tilton, who has been a guest at the home of his father and other relatives and friends of the community, left on Tuesday for his home at Los Angeles. He is in charge of the inspectors of the traffic division of that city and all complaints pass through his office. His brother-in-law, Al Corsini, also of Los Angeles, accompanied him on the trip home to visit with relatives in Rochelle. Weekly Sermonette

By REV. RICHARD C. TALBOT, Jr., B. D.,
Rector of Saint Luke's Episcopal Church.

FAITH

Galatians 2:20 b.—And the life which I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God, Who loved me, and gave Himself for me.

What of your philosophy of life? Is your life centered about One to Whom you look as a Father, Who loves every soul of man? Do you feel your daily work to be a task given you by Him; do you accept it willingly at His hands and, in doing it well, feel that you are a fellow-worker with Him? Do you believe that He, through His Holy Spirit, can and does do many wonderful miracles in the spiritual, moral, and material spheres? Are you convinced that He sent His Divine Son into the world nineteen hundred years ago; that the Son came to show men what God is like and how they are to live; and that He founded a Divine Society for the carrying on of His work in the world? Do you think that He expects all men to share in the activities of this Society, both for their own individual betterment and the betterment of society at large?

Or are you one of those who know there must have been First Cause behind our universe, but believe that First Cause to be impersonal and not interested in men? Is your daily work just a means of providing for your material wants? Do you think miracles impossible, and belief in them childish? Do you feel that the Christian Church is only one among many like organizations, and that it is immaterial whether you belong to it and share in its activities?

If you belong to the latter class, you are truly missing the whole purpose and joy of living. Only men of faith know the real meaning of happiness and purposeful life. Do you say that you wish you could believe, but are unable? You are deceiving yourself. Only make a venture of faith at the first. Only assume that the words of Jesus Christ are true, and act on that assumption for a time. Then you will gradually find—in experience—that they ARE true. As you develop your faith, God will reveal Himself to you more and more. Cultivate faith. For unless you have faith, God can do nothing for you and you can do nothing for Him.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

Baseball Gossip

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.,
Associated Press Sports Writer

At the rate the Philadelphia Athletics are pulling away from the rest of the American League pack and the spaces between the lower positions in the standing are widening, it won't be long before the only interesting struggle left is the fight between Boston and St. Louis to keep out of last place.

The Athletics are looking better every day. Not only have they been surging to pull ahead of Washington until their margin has become six full games but they have been tossing in extra frills that bring runs. Yesterday they surprised the Cleveland with a pair of triple steals. In addition to this strategy, the A's made 12 hits and received ten bases on balls, to win by a 14 to 1 score. It was their eleventh victory in 14 games of the current western tour.

Washington dropped further back as the Chicago White Sox came along fast in the closing innings and pulled out a 6 to 5 victory in the ninth. The Sox scored five times in the last three frames, Carl Reynolds driving in the final run with a double off Irvin Hadley. The Senators have suffered almost as many reverses as the Athletics have scored triumphs.

The third place New York Yankees taking advantage of Detroit's seven errors won a 14 to 7 decision.

Down where the league's real struggle is going on, the St. Louis Browns came out on top by a 6 to 3 score and kept the Boston Red Sox in the cellar. Boston, striving to move into seventh place, could not cope with George Blacholder's six hit pitching and Goose Goslin's hitting. Goslin drove in four runs with a homer, a double and a single.

Brooklyn and Chicago, who continue to keep the National League race interesting, each won another game without trouble yesterday and still are separated by a half game, Brooklyn leading. The Robins downed the Cincinnati Reds, 7 to 2. Chicago pounded Bange and Willoughby for 16 blows and again defeated the Phils, this time 9 to 5. It was the second straight high-score game in the Philadelphia "bandbox" which was completed without a home run.

The New York Giants, who have a habit of helping others while they help themselves, let their aid to the Boston Braves and moved them into fifth place in the standing. Boston in return helped put the Giants four games ahead of the fourth place St. Louis Cardinals. Clarence Mitchell's snafu hurling held the Pittsburgh Pirates to seven hits while New York gained a 3 to 1 victory.

"Wee Willie" Sherdel stopped his former mates with nine blows and Boston defeated the Cards, 5 to 4. The Braves used 12 hits off Flint Rhem to offset the work of Ray Blades, who drove in all four St. Louis runs.

"RABBIT" IS HONORED
Boston, July 26—(AP)—The 37-year-old Peter Pan of baseball, Rabbit Maranville, grizzled veteran of 18 campaigns of shortstop play, today had his "day."

An automobile, a chest of silver, a purse and other gifts awaited his appearance at the Braves-Cardinals doubleheader. Even the knot-hole gang and the peanut vendors had gifts for him.

Fans from far and wide in New England joined in planning the day. The biggest advance sale Braves Field ever had proved the popularity of "The Springfield Kid."

In 1912, he came to the Braves from the New Bedford team of the old New England League. In his first game against the Cubs of Evers, Tinker and Chance renoun the Rabbit handled 12 chances without a slipup.

"OLD PETE" TO GALESBURG
Galesburg, Ill., July 26—(AP)—Grover Cleveland Alexander will return again to the scene of his first organized baseball experience.

Alexander has signed to pitch one game some time in August for the Galesburg Independents. He pitched for Galesburg 20 years ago and went from there to the major leagues where he remained until early this season. He will receive $350 and his expenses for the contest.

Yesterday's Stars

By Associated Press
Carl Reynolds, White Sox—Doubled in ninth to drive in run that beat Senators.

Lefty Grove, Athletics—Held Indians to six hits and beat them, 14-1.

Goose Goslin, Browns—Accounted for five runs against Red Sox with homer, double and single.

Dan Taylor, Cubs—Clouted Philly pitching for triple and three singles.

Clarence Mitchell, Giants—Scattered Pirates' seven hits and beat them, 3 to 1.

SPORT BRIEFS

BY UNITED PRESS
Macon, Ga.—Promoter Charlie Morgan, announced today that he had signed W. L. "Young" Stribling, and K. O. Christener, Akron heavyweight, for a 10 round bout here Labor Day.

Paris—Jean Borotra, French tennis star, soon will be named a Chevalier of the French Legion of Honor, it was announced last night.

Borotra is one of France's leading tennis players, and met William T. Tilden in the challenge round of the Davis Cup matches yesterday, losing only after a grueling battle in which he forced to four sets.

New York—Crews representing the Penn A. C. of Philadelphia and the South Side Boat Club of Quincy, Ill., sailed today on the Belgeland for the International Rowing Federation championships at Lieges, Belgium, Aug. 15, 16 and 17.

Penn A. C. will represent the United States in the eight-oared races with the Illinois crew contesting in the four-oared event.

Manchester-By-The-Sea, Mass.—Edith Cross of San Francisco and Mrs. L. A. Harper of Oakland, Calif., were to meet Virginia Hileary of Philadelphia and Dorothy Andrus of Stamford, Conn., in the doubles final of the annual Essex County Club Women's invitation tennis tournament here this afternoon.

Miss Cross and Mrs. Harper defeated Alice Francis of South Orange, N. J., and Ann Page of Philadelphia in the semi-finals yesterday, 6-1, 6-2. In the other semi-final match, the Misses Hileary and Andrus defeated Marjorie Gladman of Santa Monica, Calif. and Josephine Crickshank of Santa Ana, Calif., 6-1, 6-1.

Marjorie Morrill of Dedham won the singles final yesterday, defeating Miss Gladman, 6-1, 6-2.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

BY Associated Press

Loud Speakers Will Tell Racing Details

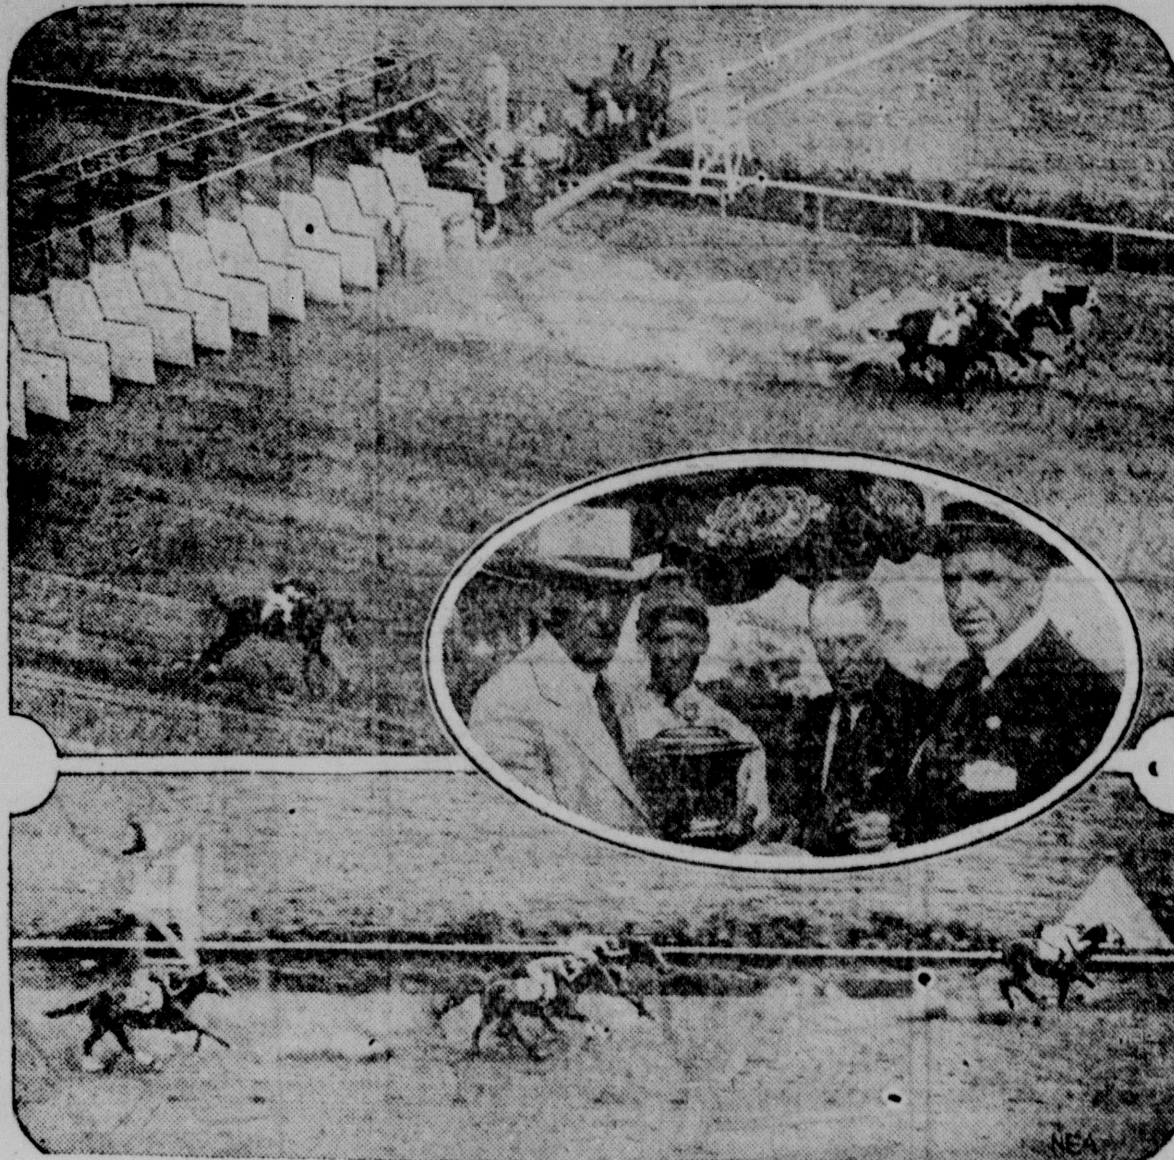

A new method of announcing the entries and the results of the horse races at the Lee County Fair in Amboy, August 20 to 23, will be installed by Chester Barriage, of this city. Instead of the megaphone system by which the referees and starter announces the horses scratched and the result of each heat, electric transmitters will broadcast the results from the judges' stand. Electric power horns will be installed at each end of the grand stand and in front of the stand which will announce each event taking place on the track or platform.

Mr. Barriage is at present assembling the equipment which will doubtless be used at several of the county fairs in this locality. It was very necessary that something new be introduced at the Amboy fair as the old equipment was in bad condition of repair. Two years ago a load of shot cracked the bell that for years has served in the judges stand and last winter the clapper was stolen. The starter and announcer will speak into a miniature microphone over the heads of the judges and timers.

Col. Harry Harrington, of Sterling, who gave excellent satisfaction last season in starting the races, has been secured to officiate again this season.

Blue Larkspur New Close to Gallant Fox

By his victory in the $25,000 Arlington Cup race, Blue Larkspur, 1919 three-year-old champion and star of Colonel E. R. Bradley's Idle Hour Farms, boosted his total earnings to $272,070 which places him only a notch behind Gallant Fox, the 1930 sensation, in the list of America's leading money winners. More than 30,000 spectators saw the favorite trounce a field of five horses and finish three and a half lengths in front of Petee Wrack in second place. The top photo shows the start of the race with Revellie Boy, American Derby winner, leave the outside gate where he was placed because of bad temper displayed at the start. The lower photo shows the finish of the race that enriched Colonel Bradley by $25,200. The inset shows Governor Emmerson of Illinois, left, presenting the Arlington Cup to Colonel Bradley, right, as Jockey Smith and Trainer H. J. Thompson looks on.

Amboy Riversides Claim Co. Honors

The Amboy Riversides won another victory yesterday afternoon in their defeat of the Harmon Bull Dogs and are now claiming the Lee county baseball championship. In a nine inning battle staged at the Central school diamond in Amboy yesterday afternoon, the Riversides managed to defeat their challengers by a score of 14 to 10.

"Mickey" Long went the entire nine innings for the Harmon Bull Dogs with Doud of Chicago behind the bat. Bob Leake, Frederick Leake, Johnny Powers and Ray Leake occupied the pitching box for the Riversides with Brew doing the receiving. Frederick Leake registered a home run in the early innings which materially assisted in winning the game.

The Riversides after defeating Dixon two straight games, and winning from Harmon, feel that they have conquered the west section of Lee county and it is expected that within the next week, a game will be arranged with an all-star team from the east end of the county to be played at the Weber Field for the county title.

KLEIN, O'DOUL TOP BATTERS IN MAJOR LEAGUES

Philadelphia Retains Monopoly On Sluggings Honors This Week

By DIXON STEWART

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, July 26—(UP)—Philadelphia today retained its monopoly on major league batting honors with Lefty O'Doul of the Phillies and Al Simmons of the Athletics topping their respective leagues for the third consecutive week.

United Press averages, compiled through July 24, showed O'Doul leading the National League with a percentage of .409, a gain of .002 during the past week, and Simmons heading the American League with a mark of .393, one point higher than his average a week ago.

Lou Gehrig of the Yankees and Chuck Klein of the Phillies retained the runner-up positions but Mickey Cochrane of the Athletics and Babe Herman of Brooklyn were replaced in third place by Sam Rice of Washington and Bill Terry of the Giants. Klein with .006 points behind his teammate in the National League with a mark of .403. Terry, Giants, .388; Stephenson, Cubs, .388; Herman, Brooklyn, .384; Friberg, Phillies, .372; Heilmann, Reds, .367; P. Waner, Pirates, .361; Cuyler, Cubs, .356; and Grantham, Pirates, .352, completed the circuit's "Big Ten."

Simmons' companions in the American League's first ten were: Gehrig, Yankees, .386; Rice, Senators, .378; Dickey, Yankees, .376; Cochrane, Athletics, .375; Ruth, Yankees, .365; Combs, Yankees, .361; Averill, Indians, .360; Hodapp, Indians, .353; and Manush, Senators, .358.

Leadership in the seven offensive departments was distributed among the bats. Bob Leake, Frederick Leake, Johnny Powers and Ray Leake occupied the pitching box for the Riversides with Brew doing the receiving. Frederick Leake registered a home run in the early innings which materially assisted in winning the game.

Harmon's Funeral At Stadium Today

Chicago, July 26—(AP)—The body of Patrick T. (Paddy) Harmon, accompanied by an escort of motorcycle police, today went to the Chicago Stadium—the monument to his participation in the city's sports life for the last 25 years—to lie in state until funeral services at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Hundreds of friends went to the great sports building yesterday and last night to pay respect to Harmon, but changes in arrangements delayed the last visit to his stadium, until today.

The condition of Mrs. Harmon, who was injured in the automobile accident which cost the promoter's life, was so serious that she was not expected to attend the services. Dr. T. Thomas Brand, also in the car when the accident occurred, was to attend on a stretcher.

Held For Assault On 5-Year-Old Girl

Champaign, Ill., July 26—(UP)—George Reich, 32, was held in the county jail here, charged with criminal assault on a five-year-old girl. The charge was brought by the child's mother, after she had become seriously ill.

The child was removed to the county hospital, where state health authorities made an examination to determine the exact nature of the disease.

Reich who is a truck driver, is said by police, to have made no attempt to conceal his guilt. He said, according to police, that the alleged assault occurred at his home when the little girl came into his room. He denied having enticed her there.

Boy, 15, Suicides For Love Of Girl

Valley Stream, L. I., July 26—(UP)—A 15-year-old boy whose decapitated body was found on the tracks of the Long Island Railroad near the Sunrise Highway here, committed suicide because his girl did not love him, according to a note found by police.

The note read "give my ring to Florence Elizabeth Phillips; give my bike and clothes to K. Bennett. Don't let my parents see my body. Tell Florence I died because I could not have her."

The boy was Everett Davis.

LEADS CANADIAN OPEN

Valley Stream, L. I., July 26—(UP)—Lancaster, Ont., July 26—(UP)—Nicol Thompson, 50-year-old Canadian golfer, today held the lead in the Canadian open tournament as survivors started out for the final 36 holes of play.

Thompson scored a 71 yesterday to go with his record breaking 66 of Thursday for a total of 137. Tony Manero, Elmford, N. Y., was a stroke behind with 139. Farrell turned in yesterday's lowest score, shooting a 66 to equal the course record set by Thompson on Thursday.

Mail And Passenger Boat Goes Down Today

Tegucigalpa, Honduras, July 26—(UP)—A boat carrying United States mail and passengers, sank in the middle of Lake Yojoa, some of those aboard were saved, but complete details were lacking.

TOWN LOT DRILLING

Nelsonville, O.—(UP)—Nelsonville's city government has caught the drilling fever that has spread fast here following a huge gas strike on the Athens Brick Co. property, within city limits. Council has authorized the mayor and service director to lease four tracts of city owned land to the highest bidders for the drilling of wells.

SOVIET RUSSIA LIVES WITH EYE ON NEAR FUTURE

Communists are Willing to Undergo Present Hardships to Attain Goal

By EUGENE LYONS

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Moscow—(UP)—The new Russia is, at this stage, a land of the future tense. The press and official pronouncements are filled, day after day, with free-hand sketches of how people will work or will play in the future. And the minds of the population too are filled with visions of the by-and-by.

Other countries, like Greece and Italy, may boast of their past. A few, like the United States, may boast of their present. But the Soviet Union already boasts of its future.

Every phase of life—from heavy industry to private cooking—has its 5-year plan. A few have their 10 or 25 year plans. Indeed, the more grab and discouraging any situation is at the present moment, the grander and more alluring is its corresponding plan for later.

This circumstance goes a long way to explain the amazing patience with which the country continues to sacrifice its present food and present comforts for the life of the future. The glorious by-and-by, it must be remembered, is not a distant goal for one's great-grandchildren, but almost within sight—in 1933 or 1935.

Consider such a lowly aspect of existence as the kitchen: food, cooking and cooking. Perhaps no other country presents such a pessimistic immediate picture of this aspect as does Russia. Food is scarce and carefully rationed. Crowded living quarters make every kitchen a miniature hell for housewives and servants. The total absence of some products tends to make eating monotonous and tasteless. The dearth of other involves long hours on queues.

Yet look at the "Five-Year plan for the Kitchen Industry," as recently outlined in the Moscow press. Millions of women, it promises will be freed from their kitchen duties. In the largest industrial centers, great public dining halls will obviate the need for home cooking. Here are a few of the specific figures of the plan:

1. Twenty-five huge food combines will be built at Magnitogorsk, Cheliabinsk, Traktorostroi, Dnieperostroi and other new industrial cities, each with its great kitchens, bakeries, breweries, confectioners and other gastronomic departments.

2. About 1,200 "kitchen-factories" will be constructed, each with a capacity of from 6,000 to 100,000 meals a day.

3. By the end of the 5-year period (October, 1933) 50,000,000 meals a day will be served by communal kitchens, releasing at least half the urban population from the bondage of private kitchens.

4. The budget provides an expenditure of over 1,500,000,000 rubles to accomplish these objectives during the 5 years.

The same sort of expansive plans, starting in their contrast with the present conditions, are available for housing, vacationing resorts, schools, literature, motion pictures; in fact, for everything.

The extent to which the country lives with its eyes fixed upon the early future is forcefully revealed by a study of almost any one day's newspapers. The writer listed a few of the articles written in the future tense in the Moscow press of a single day. They included:

1. An ambitious program for replenishing the depleted supplies of livestock, by creating immense collective dairy farms, cattle ranches breeding stations, etc.

2. Plans for elimination of literacy among the minor nationalities of the Union.

3. Indications of ample bread reserves and even grain exports in the nearest years.

4. An expansion of the metal-

Atlanta, Ga., the show place of Bobby Jones' golfing trophies, gained another national honor when Bryant Grant, Jr., youthful neighbor of the golfing emperor, won the National Clay Courts tennis championship at Kansas City with a 6-2, 4-6, 6-2, 6-4 victory over Wilbur F. (Junior) Coen, protégé of Big Bill Tilden. Grant's victory was in the nature of an upset, although the young Atlantan played steadily and methodically to take advantage of numerous errors by Coen.

lurgy and mining planes to enable completion of the 5-year program in 3 years.

5. Indications of great cultural achievements in the next few years, based upon the Olympiad of Art which took place in Moscow.

6. The construction of a canal connecting the Kama and Pekora rivers and promising great economic benefits.

Fred A. Seaton, business manager of the Manhattan, Kansas, Mercury, says:

That a Credit Bureau is a highly essential institution for any town or city. In these days of installment buying and continued extension of credit, the merchant must have a reliable means of protection against the "dead beat" and the confirmed "slow-pay" customer.

In Manhattan, a Credit Bureau has recently been organized and is under the active management of the Chamber of Commerce secretary. Its officers are taken from members of the Chamber of Commerce and they are thoroughly acquainted with the credit problem.

Membership in the Credit Bureau is extended to all members of the Chamber of Commerce and the cost is prorated, according to the volume of credit business which the individual merchant does.

This bureau, while young in point of existence, has already proved significantly successful in meeting the credit problem, and its rapidly growing in effectiveness and in membership.

Merchants everywhere realize there is a credit problem which is threatening their business stability. It remains for them to solve it. A local credit bureau is inexpensive of maintenance and actually pays dividends to its members.

DANCING JUDITH

BY CORALIE STANTON and HEATH HOSKEN
COPYRIGHT 1930 BY CHELSEA HOUSE.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
JUDITH GRANT, artist's model, loves ALAN STEYNE, her best friend. Chummy had loved Steyne years ago and lost her memory when he went away. So though he loves Judith, Judith insists he must marry Chummy, who regains her memory when she sees him again. Judith studies dancing and becomes star of a musical show backed by rich BRUCE GIDEON, who is interested with her. Judith refuses to marry Steyne, telling him he belongs to Chummy. Gideon tries to attack Judith in his apartment. She escapes, and he begs her to marry him, but she refuses and goes to Europe on a professional tour. Chummy and Steyne prepare to get married, but suddenly learn Judith has been badly hurt in a theater fire. She is brought back to New York and tells them she may never be able to dance again. BASTIEN, DUMONT, a young artist who loves Judith, visits her at the hospital.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XL

DUMONT saw Judy oftener than anybody else during the next three or four days. She seemed to like him to sit with her. She was gentle and kind to him. She took a great interest in his work.

They were days that passed like a dream to the young artist. He was unbelievably happy. Each day he thought Judy loved him more as if she were coming back to life. She said she had hardly any pain left, and she was healing up splendidly. They were truly golden September days, and all his life Bastien never forgot them.

One day she said to him, just as he was going away:

"Bastien, are they saying that I am going to marry Mr. Gideon?"

"I believe most of them think so, Judy."

"You can tell them I am not. He asked me to, Bastien, but I said no."

"I don't think I ever believed you would, Judy," he said. "Only, of course, you were about with him a great deal."

"I know. I played a little game with him, Bastien, if you want to know. He didn't want to marry me—you can imagine that. He didn't think I was good enough; but he found he couldn't get me any other way."

The young man was white. His hands were clenched.

"Judy!" he said, and he shook with a frenzy of rage.

"It's all right, Bastien," she said. "You needn't worry. Mr. Gideon asked me to marry him, and I refused. We're more than quits. You can tell the boys that I'm not going to marry him."

"Judy, you always said you would never marry until you fell in love. Aren't you ever going to fall in love?"

"Oh, Bastien!"

She heaved a deep sigh, although she laughed, too. He saw the sadness in her eyes, and he wondered and wondered, having no inkling of the truth.

"Bastien," she went on, "Chummy hasn't been near me since she first came—that was four days ago. What has become of her? Do you think they've been married?"

"Oh, Judy, we should have heard," he replied.

"Oh, I wish they would!" she cried. "I do wish they would!"

Her eagerness seemed natural to him, so he missed the feverish note in her voice. As he said goodbye she took one of his hands and laid her cheek against it for a second just like a child. Before he could stop himself he had bent and kissed her hair.

"Dear old Bastien!" Judy murmured. "You're such a pal!"

Dumont thought it strange that he had not seen either Chummy or Steyne at the Cafe Turc for several nights. Perhaps they had gone off and been married without saying anything. They couldn't have made much of a festivity of it, anyhow with Judy laid up.

He thought he would look in at Chummy's studio on his way back. It was then about half past six. The day had been one of melting heat, and the atmosphere was dark and threatening. It felt like a storm. A few heavy raindrops fell as Bastien reached Chummy's building. He hoped it was not the break up of those wonderful, golden days.

Not a sound was to be heard in the building. Dumont reached her floor and knocked at her door. There was no response. He knocked again with the same result.

He tried the door, then, and found that it was not locked; so he went in.

Chummy's place was rather dark at all times. There was a little dark lobby that led into the studio, where, of course, it was light, but a curtain shut off the entrance. Leading out of the lobby on the right was a dark passage that led into the tiny gallery where Chummy's cooking was done. Her bedroom was on the other side of the studio.

The storm made it even darker this evening. Dumont stumbled against a tall oil jar that was meant to hold umbrellas. He called out Chummy's name, but there was no reply.

Just as he was going out, he smelled gas. The odor was strong. He thought Chummy must have gone out and left a burner on. He had better look into her gallery; so he went along the little passage and opened the door of the tiny kitchen.

Here the fumes of gas were almost overpowering. He dared not light a match, so he groped his way forward, as the little place was almost dark.

HE gave a cry as he nearly fell over something soft. Bending, he found that it was Chummy, quite unconscious, her fair head lying almost in the gas oven, the door of which was open. He began to choke and splutter, as he felt for the gas burners and found them all turned full on. When he had turned them off, he picked up Chummy and carried her into the studio.

He opened all the windows, top and bottom, and felt the fresh air rush in and purify the place.

He felt very queer and cold. What had happened to Chummy? Had she gone mad? Or had she been cleaning her gas stove and succumbed to the fumes? But one didn't clean a gas stove with the burners turned on.

Curiously enough, Bastien had once before been present when a friend had been resuscitated after having nearly killed himself in this selfsame way. He knew what to do, and he did it without going for a doctor. Chummy was very faint; but he satisfied himself that she could be revived; and he knew she would not wish him to call a doctor.

For by this time he realized that Chummy had intended to commit suicide. He was still numb, it was so sordid—Chummy lying there, with her head in the gas oven Chummy, so madly hit by life that she had sought this way out!

He could imagine other girls acting it—even Judy, under certain circumstances, but not Chummy—Chummy, who had made up her mind that love came before work and who was going to be married and live happily ever after!

Her eyelids stirred, and she moaned faintly. Dumont held cold water to her lips. She drank a little. Then he hurried out to the gallery, and knowing it was now safe to strike a light, put some water on to boil.

When he came back she was sitting up, greenish white about the face, but breathing more or less normally.

"Bastien!" she gasped.

"Chummy!" he replied, with as much reproach as relief. "What a dreadful thing to do! It was luck that I came in time!"

And then the proud, reserved Chummy came to the end of her self-control.

"I wish you hadn't come!" she cried. "I wish you hadn't come!"

She broke down completely, and it was terrible to watch.

Little by little, Dumont managed to soothe her and to bring her back to normal behavior; but she was completely demoralized mentally, and could no more control her words than a person out of her mind.

She did what she would never have done, what she would rather have died than do, if she had been herself—she told him the truth.

"Bastien, you should have let me be. It's the only way out of it. Judy and Alan love each other, but they won't take their happiness because of me!"

At first Dumont thought Chummy must be mad. He had not had the faintest inkling of such a situation. He put it down to the gas. It had poisoned her mind. But, little by little, through her disorganized volition and her eloquent words, he came to see that she knew what she was talking about. She gave chapter and verse. While the floodgates were open, the flood flowed through.

Judy and Alan loved each other. They had loved even more strongly since Alan came back. Alan had quite forgotten her, she said. Probably he had never loved her. He had been very fond of her as a friend—that was all; but he loved Judy. How could any man help loving Judy?

The last sentence was so true that Dumont laughed, and Chummy did not know that it was the laughter of despair.

"But why did one never guess?" he asked.

"Because they didn't want any one to guess. Bastien," she said, still unable to keep anything back. "They wanted to keep it from me. It was Judy at first—you know Judy; but afterward it was Alan, too. She made him see it that way."

"How do you know?"

"Because I do know—I can't help it. It was just before we were going to be married the first time—last year—I can't tell you, but I saw them together, and I knew they were saying goodbye. Judy knew I loved Alan. She wouldn't take him from me. You know Judy. They didn't know I'd heard and seen."

"And then," said the young man, growing enlightened, "you suddenly decided that you must put your work before Steyne?"

Chummy nodded.

"Judy always thought you'd had a quarrel, you know."

"Yes, I know. I don't think she guessed at the time; but afterward she knew that I knew."

"Aren't you imagining things?"

"No, Bastien, I'm sure of it. Then, you know, she made her great success and went away, and I believe she took up with Mr. Gideon so that Alan shouldn't think about her any more. You know Judy. It was pathetic how she repeated those three words 'She would never marry him while I was there—I know that.'"

"But then," put in Dumont, intensely puzzled, "you were going to be married—now?"

"I know. Alan drifted back somehow. I expect it was because Judy had gone and there was all that talk about Mr. Gideon. I don't know, but there it was; and I was persuaded against myself, Bastien. I ought to have known that he hadn't forgotten her. I thought perhaps he had; but on the night when we heard about the fire at the theater—the night when we were all at the cafe—then I knew once and for all. None of you noticed him, I think; but I did. I just saw him die, Bastien!"

Dumont looked at her and was moved to action. Telling her to sit still, he went out brewed coffee, and forced her to drink a cup. She had recovered somewhat, but she looked as if she had shaken hands with death.

Nora May Lehman

Nora May Lehman, youngest daughter of Samuel and Amelia Lehman, was born near Franklin Grove, Ill., January 28, 1874, and departed this life July 17, 1930, aged 56 years, 5 months and 18 days.

On November 4, 1894, she was united in marriage to S. Elmer Cline, who was ever faithful to her during her years of sickness, and nothing was to much for him to do for her that she might be made more comfortable.

Early in life she united with the church of the Brethren, to which she always remained faithful and true, her faith helping her bear her afflictions bravely and with little complaint.

Besides her husband and two foster children, Margaret Madison Fox of Denver, Colo., and Oscar Fox, at home, she leaves to mourn her departure three brothers, Ralph E., Warren W., and Clayton H., all of Dixon and one sister, Mrs. Alice

ABE MARTIN

Jest think, it don't seem no longer ago than yesterday when their wuz framed wall mottoes readin' "What's Home Without a Mother?" "The dandiest feller proposed to me last night but I didn't feel I could afford him," said Miss Tawney Apple, today.

Morris of this community. One brother, Ira M. Lehman and two sisters, Clara Frances Reed and a Group, all of this place, preceded her in death.

Four years ago she was stricken with paralysis. She was able for a time since then to ride out occasionally and attend church, but it was a year ago last November since she had been out of the house. She was a great sufferer during the past year and a half, failing fast the last three months.

Her family, relatives and hosts of friends will cherish the memory of her unselfish devotion to the needs and welfare of others and the memory of many pleasant occasions as the result of her hospitality. She was a faithful wife, a loving mother and a kind neighbor. Her entire life was spent on the farm where she died.

Funeral services were held Sunday morning in the church of the Brethren, conducted by Rev. O. D. Buck and assisted by Rev. Frank E. Winger, interment was made in the Emmert cemetery west of town. The pallbearers were nephews of the deceased: Arthur Morris, Leroy Lehman, Samuel Lehman, Lloyd Group, Albert Cline, Oscar Cline. Those from a distance attending the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. Harry Snyder and daughter Edna, Fred Cline, Miss Florence Marshall of Downs-ville, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Barkdoll, Mr. Anderson of Batavia, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Wilton Lehman, of West Chicago; Mrs. Ella Schlicker of Madison, Wis.; Howard Rhinehart and wife of Rockford, Harvey Keller and family, Mrs. Nannie Pollock of Mt. Morris, Arlon Bartholomew and family of Wheaton, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Waite of Strathmore, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. Stauffer, Mr. and Mrs. Murray Boone, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mades, Mrs. John Dick of Polo, Mrs. Florence Smith, Mrs. Julia Durrin, Mrs. Smith and daughter of Scarborough.

William Alexander Miller

William Alexander Miller, aged 88 years was a veteran of the Civil War, and a long resident of Iowa, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. C. E. Miller, at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, July 15th. His son Guy of Kansas and his daughter were at his bedside when he passed away.

Mr. Miller was born in Myersdale, Pa., March 1, 1842. He enlisted with the 51st Pennsylvania volunteers and served with that body until he was honorably discharged. He was a member at large of the G. A. R. Following the war, he operated a grocery store in Chicago, but was burned out by the historic fire of 1871. From Chicago he went to Franklin Grove, he built and lived in the residence now owned by E. I. Fish in the west part of town, then later went to Iowa. He was postmaster at Colo, Iowa, for a time and later moved to Marshalltown, Iowa, from there he moved to Cedar Rapids, eight years ago.

December 20, 1864 he was married to Magdalene E. Lahman at Franklin Grove who preceded him in death September 22, 1910. Four children were born to this union: Harry L. who died April 28, 1930, Frank R. who lives in Oklahoma, Guy E. and Edith M. The deceased united in early life with the church of the Brethren and remained a member of that faith until 1910 when he transferred to the Christian church. He was a faithful and conscientious Christian throughout his long life. Short services were held and interment made in the Emmert cemetery west of this place, Rev. O. D. Buck of the church of the Brethren officiating.

Swimming Pool

The swimming pool was drained late Saturday night and was refilled Sunday and Monday morning with clean city water. The pool is the most popular place in town and many are availing themselves of the real fun it affords so little money. Children under 12 years can spend the afternoon there for only ten cents while the adult only need pay fifteen cents. Where can you get four or five hours real fun for fifteen cents. Patronize the pool. Get the pool habit. Clark Phillips, life saver and Eli Hull, caretaker will treat you right.

Legion Auxiliary Picnic

The Franklin Grove Unit will act as hostess to the other units of the county at a picnic to be held in the dining hall at the camp ground Wednesday, July 30, with dinner to be served at noon. Local members are asked to contribute 50 cents each to a general fund with which we will purchase meat, coffee and cream for the dinner, so that we will not be obliged to withdraw money from our treasury for that purpose. Please bring your own dishes and silver and sandwiches. Members of other units in the county will bring dishes, silver, sandwiches and a dish to pass. The membership pins are here and you may obtain yours from Mrs. Morgan. The past president badges will also be given to those entitled to them.

Mrs. Ruth Hussey, President.

Dies Suddenly

While residing here for some time still the death of John Watson was a shock to the community Monday afternoon while his wife was working in the local telephone exchange, an obliging neighbor went to his home to administer medicine and found his dead. "Jack" as he was known by all, was a quiet, well-meaning good citizen, ready to do a neighbor or friend a kind deed anytime. Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of his son, Arthur Watson. The obituary will be published next week.

Former Resident Dies

We copy the following from the Reporter, which was taken from a North Dakota paper, "Jamestown, N. D., July 15th. George F. Hunt, aged 59, caretaker at North Dakota fish hatchery at Spiritwood Lake, died here Monday. He served as state senator from Golden Valley county for a number of years. He leaves a widow and one son, Gilbert." He was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Hunt of this place. Many friends here will extend sympathy to the widow and her son.

Ackerman—Sunday

Tuesday morning at eleven o'clock Miss Irene Ackerman, youngest daughter of Mrs. Anna Ackerman and Wilbur Sunday, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sunday were united in marriage by Rev. L. V. Sittler of Plainfield, former Methodist pastor of this place. The guests were only the immediate relatives. The bride graduated from the local high school with the class of 1921 and attended the Illinois Teachers College at DeKalb, where the course of instruction was completed. The last four years she has taught school in Berwyn, near Chicago. The groom graduated from the Franklin Grove High school with the same class as his wife, he took a two years course in the state university at Champaign. Going to California four years ago he secured employment with the Standard Oil Company and is still with the company in a good position at Compton. Mr. and Mrs. Sunday left Tuesday noon for Compton, California, their future home with the best wishes of their many friends for health, happiness and prosperity in their married life. They expect to stop at Denver, Colo., to visit her sister, Mrs. Ed Averill.

The objects of the United Men's Club:

To give preference to the human and spiritual rather than to the material value of life.

To encourage the daily living of the Golden Rule in all human relationships.

To develop by precept and example a more intelligent, aggressive and serviceable citizenship.

To provide through this club a practical means to form enduring friendship, to render Christian service and to build a better community.

LOTT-ROBERTS

Miss Elsie Lott, of Franklin Grove, Illinois and Clarence Joseph Roberts, of Cincinnati, Ohio, were married in Apt. D. La Casa Contenta, San Bernardino, California, at high noon, July 19, by Rev. T. E. Stevens, a former pastor of the Presbyterian church of this place read a simple ceremony.

The wedding ring presented by the bridegroom to the bride was a circle of platinum studded with diamonds.

Miss Lott wore a beautiful creation of light blue chiffon crepe with a felt, handmade hat to match. The groom was stylishly attired in a light brown suit.

Following the ceremony the wedding party, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Roberts, of Hollywood, Calif., Rev. and Mrs. Stevens, went to the California Hotel where a delicious luncheon was served. Later in the afternoon the bride and groom motored to San Pedro, Calif., where they took a boat for the "Island Empire" of the Whigley's St. Catalina Island. Upon their return they expect to take a number of short trips, visiting San Diego, Agua Calientes and Tia Juana, Mex., and other points of interest in southern California, before starting on their homeward trip via California, Oregon, Washington and points east. After September 1st, Mr. and Mrs. Roberts will be at home in 353 Hovey Avenue, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Mrs. Roberts, or Elsie, as she is known by a legion of friends throughout this community, which has always been her home is loved by all and most highly respected. She is a member of the Presbyterian church and never found any task too great or too much to do for her church. She was a member of the choir for years. Her education was received in the local school and later took training in costume designing at a technical school in Chicago, then employed in that art in Madison, Wis.

The groom is a native son of Ohio, received his preliminary education in the city schools of Cincinnati, and later received a degree of electrical engineering from the University of Cincinnati. He is an instructor of engineering in a technical school of that city.

We join with many other friends in extending best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Roberts for health, happiness and prosperity in their wedded life.

WILL TAKE VACATION

The Presbyterian church of this place and Ashton have granted their pastor a vacation during the month of August. Rev. and Mrs. Thomas and daughter, Dorcas, and Mrs. Thomas' mother, Mrs. William H. Agraves, of Allentown, Pa., will leave next week on a trip to the Pacific Coast. They will travel west over the Lincoln Highway visiting at Salt Lake City, Sacramento, Yosemite Park, and San Francisco. They will then travel down the Pacific Coast to Los Angeles where they will make their headquarters.

LUTHERAN MEETING SUNDAY

One of the largest gathering of Lutherans in this vicinity will be held next Sunday afternoon at the camp grounds when the members from Lee, Ogle, LaSalle, Bureau, and Whiteside counties will gather to attend the celebration in memory of the 400th Anniversary of the Augsburg Confession of the church.

The services will be held in the afternoon at 2:30 and the speaker will be Rev. A. P. Meyer, pastor of the Lutheran church at Stockton. The vested choir of the Ashton church under the direction of Rev. Henke will sing. Special instrumental music upon piano, cornet and trombone, will be played by Rev. Habacker and two sons of Kewanee. The public is cordially invited to this service which is in the nature of a spiritual jubilee and in memory of the early protestants, who, in 1530, offered their lives in defense of their faith.

Presbyterian Notes

"The Church in the Midst"

9:30 a. m.—Sunday school, Fred C. Gross, Superintendent.

7:30 p. m.—Worship and sermon. Theme: "Vacation Thoughts with Jesus." This service marks the last service before vacation. The minister will return, if all is well, for the first Sunday in September. The Sunday

"The Church for the Whole Family"

Most of our Y. P. D. and several others attended the district rally at the Pines, Sunday afternoon. Several hundred were in attendance and enjoyed a basket dinner and a vespere service in the evening. A rare treat is in store for the music-loving people of our community as the male quartet of Laverne College Claf are scheduled to give a program in our church the evening of August 8. Keep this date in mind. Next Sunday service, as usual.

O. D. Buck, Elder.

St. Paul Lutheran Church

The Ladies' Aid will meet together with a dozen or more Lutherans congregations will hold a mass celebration in the tabernacle on the camp grounds to commemorate the 400th anniversary of the Augsburg Confession. The time is 2:30 p. m. However, this is to be more than a demonstration of numbers. The true celebration, the spiritual jubilee consist in loyal adherence to the doctrines for which our ancestors in 1530 were willing to die for. The speaker, Rev. A. P. Meyer, of Stockton, Ill., will preach. The Ashton choir will sing. The public is invited. Every member should be present.
